

= Straw = MATTING.

Before the great advance in Mattings, incident to the Russia-Japan war, we placed an order direct with the manufacturers in China for 500 rolls. This was early last summer and the prices obtained then make our Matting look remarkably cheap, compared with the war prices of to-day.

The first sale will be held to-morrow and you will do well to see these mattings before buying.

All straw mattings at 15c for fair quality; up to 35c for the best.

CIRCUIT COURT CULLINGS.

Another Special Judge on the Bench Yesterday.

JUDGE JOE MCCARROLL.

Two Negro Homicides Tried and Result in Acquittals.

The regular judge was again absent yesterday and Judge Joe McCarroll was agreed upon as special judge in the cases for yesterday.

The jury in the case of "Tissue Paper" Jack Hardison, col., charged with the murder of Charles Johnson, another negro, at a festival near Empire, in 1903, brought in a verdict Tuesday afternoon, finding the prisoner not guilty. Hardison had been in jail here since his arrest in Illinois about a year ago. His home is in Nashville, but he is still in this city.

The case of the commonwealth against Columbus Pepper, col., under indictment for manslaughter, in killing his brother, Push Pepper, with a shovel, one mile East of the city, several months, was tried Tuesday. A verdict of not guilty was returned in the afternoon, under peremptory instructions from the court.

John Hargraves and Ernest O'Neal, colored boys charged with stealing from a common carrier, were acquitted. The indictments against Ida Wright and John Campbell, charging a similar offense, were dismissed and the cases stricken from the docket.

The case of Eayden Horn, charged with grand larceny in extracting $140 from W. R. Long's safe, was given to the jury yesterday morning, and a verdict returned at 4 o'clock finding him $100.

The case of Jim Dawson, charged with malicious shooting Jim Lacy, another negro boy, near Newstead, was tried yesterday afternoon. Fined $100.

Mrs. Ada Veach was granted a divorce from C. S. Veach. Mrs. F. B. West was also granted a legal separation from J. R. West.

ANOTHER GUN PLAY.

Shot Gun Seems to Have Superseded the Razor.

The shot gun seems to have superseded the razor as a weapon among the colored population. Monday afternoon one negro shot another with a gun on Seventh street and now information comes that another shooting occurred in Santo Domingo, just east of the city, in which the party who fired the shot used a gun. It appears that Wiley Caudle and Lewis Pendleton had some trouble and as a result Caudle was filled with lead. Several shot entered his head, his jaw also receiving a portion of the load and his hands and arms were peppered. Caudle came to the city and had his wounds dressed. He was not very badly hurt, and was able to be out yesterday. No arrests have been made.

KUROPATKIN RETURNS TO THE FRONT.

To Fight as a Subordinate Officer Under His Rival, Linevich.

OLD HERO CHEERED.

The Retreat to Harbin Is Proceeding Without Much Fighting.

Gen. Kuropatkin's expressed willingness to accept a subordinate command in the Russian army has been accepted as sincere by the Emperor and he has been ordered to take command of the first army, which formerly was directed by Gen. Linevich. Upon the departure of Gen. Kuropatkin from Harbin to return to the scene of war he was accorded a great ovation by soldiers and citizens. The retreat of the Russian army according to the dispatches from St. Petersburg is uneventful and there is no news of fighting anywhere. The Russians are destroying the bridges, and doing everything possible to retard the pursuit of the Japanese.

Gen. Linevich's headquarters has been established for the present at Chenchawatu, situated at the crossing of the Sungara river, whence he is directing the retreat of the three armies and disposing of the fresh troops of the Fourth corps just arrived from European Russia. The protection of the Sungari bridge is vital to the salvation of the army as the river is not fordable below Kirin and once the line of the river is passed and the bridge blown up the Japanese pursuit will be effectually checked.

JOHNSON STILL ALIVE.

The Victim of Bob Martin's Pistol May Get Well.

John Johnson, the negro shot by Bob Martin, on Seventh street Monday afternoon is still alive. He is in the county jail and the man who did the shooting is in another cell not far away. They were in George Driguid's pool room and Johnson, who is from Madisonville, got into a dispute with the boy who was in charge. Martin says he suggested that if Johnson couldn't observe the rules of the house he should quit playing, and that Johnson cursed him and fired at him with a pistol. Martin then picked up a shotgun and shot at Johnson, but missed him. As Johnson was escaping down the steps he shot the other barrel, the load striking him in the back. Johnson fell on the pavement, and was soon after removed to the jail. The shot lodged in his right lung but he may pull through. Johnson denies that he shot at Martin with a pistol. His pistol was picked up where he fell and one chamber was empty. It was a cheap 32-calibre weapon.

COUNTY POLITICS

Is Beginning to Be Discussed "Right Smart."

The Democratic County Committee will meet on the third of April to consider the nomination of a county ticket. As the time draws near, there is considerable discussion going on and it is evident that there will be some good material from which to make up the ticket ten days hence.

Among those who are being discussed for the various offices are the following well known Democrats:

COUNTY JUDGE,

Buckner Leavell, C. H. Bush, L. O. Garrett, J. F. Dixon.

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

Larkin T. Brasher, J. T. Hanberry, Frank Rives, Douglas Bell.

COUNTY CLERK,

David Smith will have no opposition.

SHERIFF,

T. J. Jameson, J. E. Moseley, Marlow Johnson.

JAILER,

J. G. Childress, Lee King, J. G. Torian, L. L. Nicholls.

ASSESSOR,

Several of the same men mentioned above.

It is probable that two or three places on the ticket, including superintendent and representative, may be left vacant.

The sub-committee having in hand the preparation of a ticket to submit to the whole committee will probably meet before the end of this week. It is composed of Chairman Jas. West, W. H. Martin, W. A. Radford, Lucian Harris and Hunter Wood, Jr.

LEASED MESSENGER.

Ed Lawson Takes Charge of Republican Paper.

Mr. Ed Lawson, formerly with the New Era, has leased the Hopkinsville Messenger, and took charge this week. Mr. McDonald, who came here from Princeton and conducted the paper for several weeks, will shortly begin the publication of a Republican paper at Madisonville.

It was a home wedding and was a pleasant surprise to the friends of the young couple. Mr. Payne came with his bride to this city, on a visit to his mother, and is still here receiving the congratulations of his friends. From here they will go to St. Louis before returning home. Mr. Payne is an employee of the Illinois Central Railroad and has formed many friendships in his new home. His bride is a young lady of many attractions and graces of person. MISSOURI MAN AT TOKIO.

Capt. Pershing, Military Attaché, First Won Attention in Philippine Fighting.

St. Louis.—Capt. John J. Pershing, of the Fifteenth cavalry, who has just been appointed by the war department as military attaché at Tokio, is a successful Lieut. Col. Wood, is a Missourian by birth and is regarded as one of the most promising of the younger men in the army.

Capt. Pershing was born in Missouri September 13, 1860. He was educated in the public schools of his native town and when 22 years of age he was appointed a cadet at West Point. On his graduation from the military academy in 1882 he was appointed second lieutenant of the Sixth cavalry. From that rank he rose steadily to his present position.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American ican war he was appointed major and chief ordnance officer of volunteers, being mustered out as such May 12, 1899. He was appointed major and assistant adjutant general of volunteers June 6, 1899. On February 3, 1900, he was promoted to the captaincy of the First cavalry. He was later transferred from the First to the Fifteenth cavalry as captain, and August 20, 1901, he was detailed as a member of the general staff of the army.

Several years ago Capt. Pershing was detailed as military instructor at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln and during his service at the capital of Nebraska he moved in the highest social circles and was a society favorite. Public attention was first attracted to Capt. Pershing by his daring deeds in the Philippines. He was in command of the expedition against the Moros several years ago and the newspapers were full of his exploits in that campaign. Next to Gen. Funston, no officer who took part in the campaign in the Orient attained greater distinction or became in the estimation of the public a greater hero than he.

Capt. Pershing's appointment as military attaché at Tokio was made because of his peculiar qualifications for the post. He is not only a courageous and successful fighter, but a student of the science of war as well.

FIND AN ANCIENT SHOVEL.

Discovery of Stone Trowel Brings to Light Work of the Mound Builders.

Granite City, Ill.—Workmen grading a road through the edge of a mound on the Roland stock and dairy farm, five miles east of here, found a stone implement, which, it is believed, was used by the mound builders as a shovel.

Of light gray granite, the blade is 15 inches long, five and one-half inches at the broadest point, and tapers to two inches at the upper end. That it has been put to much use is evident, because it has been worn smooth and sharp at the lower end.

The implement, which is much larger than the average tool supposed to have been used by this race, was taken from a mound 700 feet long, 450 feet wide and 25 feet high, just south of a crescent-shaped lake, while north is another mound and an artificial lake. The excavations were made, it is believed, to secure material with which to build the mounds. The peculiar-shaped tool is owned by T. C. Watts, a real estate agent, who believes that he has a valuable relic. Mr. Watts purposes sending the shovel to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C.

TO OUR FARMER FRIENDS . . .

Clarksville, Tennessee, January 3rd, 1905. This crop of tobacco, being of better quality, and shorter in average yield, are two reasons for expecting better prices. Besides, full confidence as to the final outcome, may be based upon the wise conclusion of the farmer to prize and put his tobacco in condition to hold for the best demands, only to be found on the open markets. The force of combines, who have ignored open markets in order to fix lower prices in the country is broken, and we predict an era of greater prosperity will come to tobacco growers. The farmers will not regret the move they have made, and the more compact their organization, the greater their influence.

As we have done for the many years past, we solicit the patronage of farmers. As heretofore, our best efforts in their behalf can safely be relied upon. Our warehouse is open day and night, and provided with good, comfortable free quarters for teams and teamsters under the same roof.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

The more Magazines there are, the more Indispensable is The Review of Reviews

"Indispensable." "The one magazine I feel I must take." "The world under a field-glass." "An education in public affairs and current literature."—these are some of the phrases one hears from noted people who read The Review of Reviews. The more magazines there are, the more necessary is The Review of Reviews, because it brings together the best that is in all the most important monthlies of the world. Such is the flood of periodical literature that nowadays people say that the only way to keep up with it is to read The Review of Reviews. Entirely over and above this reviewing section, it has more original matter and illustrations than most magazines, and the most timely and useful articles printed in any monthly.

Probably the most useful section of all is Dr. Albert Shaw's illustrated "Progress of the World," where public events and issues are authoritatively and lucidly explained in every issue. Many a subscriber writes, "This department alone is worth more than the price of the magazine." The unique cartoon department, depicting current history in caricature, is another favorite. The Review of Reviews covers five continents, and yet is American, first and foremost. Men in public life, the members of Congress, professional men, and the great captains of industry who must keep "up with the times," intelligent men and women all over America, have decided that it is "indispensable."

SKETCH OF THE CLUB.

An Organization That Has Been in Existence For 60 Years.

More than 60 years ago there was organized "The Christian County Hunting Club."

Among its members were such names as Messrs. A. Gabe Long, Jesse McComb, Dudley Jeffries, M. J. Thomas, Elijah Cravens and others.

In those days deer and turkey were plentiful. The camp and hunt was located north of Hopkinsville in what is known as the "Pond River" country. Taking horses, wagons, dogs and servants, they were generally gone two to three weeks, returning with from thirty to forty deer. They were woodsmen and marksmen, using the Long Rifles or muzzle loading shot-guns. As the years crept on and these pioneers went with them, the ranks were recruited, and we find such names as S. R. White, J. R. Caudle, Jas. A. Parish, P. J. Glass, Austin Peay, Wm. Cravens, Wm. West, John Dudley and Lyman McComb, Otho Graves and others.

Game becoming scarce near home, they then went into what is known as the "Coaling," between the Cumberland and Tennessee Rivers, Dan Hillman and other Trigg county sportsmen hunting with them.

After some years, game becoming scarce there, they went into Southern Ill. As older members passed new ones were adding. We find Jarrett, Walker Williams, Pendleton, Lowry, Buckner, Burke, Ware, Radford, Norton, Barker, Dalton, Lee and Cooper, (of Clarksville), and others. Very often there were invited guests. In all the changing years the membership was made by ballot, after proper recommendation. It was the aim and history of the club to have only true sportsmen, congenial and unselfish, jolly good fellows. The main requirement for membership was that the member should be a gentleman and I do not believe they ever made a mistake.

It later years the hunts were in Mississippi and Arkansas. Taking guns, dogs and wagons on special train to Memphis, and from there by boat to the place chosen. They generally spent three weeks from home, always starting after election day in November. Success varied, but they generally killed from thirty to forty deer, numbers of wild fowl and always had fine fishing. A jollier or more congenial set never blew a horn nor followed the hounds.

Their comradeship is kept up during the year by social visits, barbecues, attention to the sick or needy, and also too often they are called to put away some kind and true huntsman who leaves us forever. As the deer become scarce so do the old time huntsmen.

On the 9th day of March just past, at the signal call to rally, we were called to put away our last captain, the Nestor of the Hunt; for nearly fifty years he had led us.

At a called meeting of some ten, about all the remaining club, Lyman McComb was called to the chair; W. A. Glass was chosen Sec'y. The following resolutions of condolence and sympathy were passed:

"Whereas, In the death of Capt. S. B. White, this club has lost its oldest and most honored member.

"Resolved, That we bow in submission to an all wise Providence We will cherish his memory and virtues and will always remember his kind guardianship over our club.

To his family we wish to express our sympathy, with the belief and hope that the good God will do all things well for them.

Committee.

Linevitch's Task.

St. Petersburg, March 20.—No person here minimizes the task confided to Gen. Linevitch of withdrawing what is left of the army of 450,000 men to Harbin. He is hemmed in on all sides. Gen. Kawamura presumably is pressing northward through the mountains to the eastward. Gens. Nogi and Oku are on the west of the Russian forces, the whole line of the railroad is threatened if not already cut, and Chinese bandits are even reported to be in the rear of Harbin. Napoleon's plight in the retreat from Moscow was hardly as bad.

The question of ammunition and food is also vital, as it is known that the Russians were compelled to burn further stores at Tie Pass when the new retreat of the half-famished troops were ordered.

Even in the face of the possibility of the complete loss of the army and the admitted fact that Vladivostok is already possibly lost, the Emperor still shows no signs of yielding. Another army of 50,000 men is to be dispatched to the Far East and in order to avoid delays the new army will be made up largely of regulars, leaving the reserve on garrison duty at home.

The war council has definitely decided that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky shall continue his voyage and give battle to the Japanese in the northern hope of wresting control of the sea from Admiral Togo.

Probably no other general in the Far East is so fitted to succeed Kuropatkin as Gen. Linevitch. In the battles at Mukden and Tie Pass he has been the most successful of any of his fellow officers and has practically scored all of the few points that the Russian army has won.

Like Kuropatkin, he is the idol of the soldiers because of his solicitude for their welfare.

UNCOMMON WISDOM.

Some Hopkinsville People
Profit By Neighbor's Experience.

It's a wise man who profits by the experience of his friends and neighbors. Here is a chance to do it and every man, woman or child in Hopkinsville who knows the misery of a bad back, the nervousness and restlessness caused by kidney complaint or the annoyance of urinary disorders, will show uncommon wisdom to profit by this citizen's advice.

J. W. Pritchett retired grocer of 732 East 7th St., says: My back has given me a great deal of trouble. The pain was not continually severe, but came on by intermittent spells, which were sometimes very painful especially after over-exertion of any kind. Being constantly on the outlook for something to relieve me, I happened to read of Doan's Kidney Pills, and was so impressed with the testimonials as to their worth, that I procured a box at Thomas & Trahern's drug store. The pills benumbed me every day and I hope that my endorsement will be the means of extending relief to some other sufferer."

Being Stamped Out.

Cadiz, Ky., March 19.—The small-pox situation in the county is much improved and the indications are that the county will be clear of the disease in a very short time. Only one new case was reported this week and that is a negro. In the Northern part of the county, where the disease has been the worst, there are only a very few cases, and they are expected to be dismissed in a few days.

Death at Confederate Home.

Pewee Valley, Ky., March 18.—John Blazer, an inmate of the Confederate Home, died this morning from the effects of old age. Mr. Blazer came to the home from South Union, Ky., in December, 1902. He was born in France in 1827, and served throughout the war as a private in the Tenth Tennessee infantry. The remains will be buried in the home cemetery.

Oyama's Strategy a Copy.

The Japanese strategy at Tie Pass was a copy of that employed by Gen. Joshua when he captured the city of Ai.

Choosing 36,000 mighty men of valor he ordered them to take up a position behind the city, under cover of the darkness. He himself, with the rest of his army, made a frontal attack, drew the enemy out and then gave an order to retreat as if in disorder. The King of Ai wist not that there were liars in ambush to the number of 40,000 men behind the city. So he pursued the fleeing Israelites with all his forces and left the fortifications of the city unprotected. At a signal agreed upon the mighty men of valor rose up, entered the city and set it on fire. Whereupon Gen. Joshua fared about and the men of Ai were caught front and rear, with no power to flee this way or that. The official report of the battle relates that Joshua drew not his hand back until the army of Ai was totally destroyed. The king he took alive and hanged him on a tree until eventide.

Reports from Tie Pass indicate exactly this strategy, and it appears that even the details of the battle were very similar to those of the battle of Ai.

However, if Gen. Kuropatkin is taken alive, Gen. Oyama will not hang him on a tree. The latter will not go that far. Instead he will invite the fallen warrior to his tent to take not luck with Nogi, Kuroki and himself. —Post-Dispatch.

JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT

Was Alarmingly Afflicted With La Grippe.

Cured by Pe-ru-na.

HON. W. H. PARSONS.

W. H. Parsons is Ex-State Senator and Ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, also Brigadier-General in Confederate Army. In a recent letter from 225 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:
"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials as to the efficacy of Peru-na in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grippe with which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment with this justly celebrated formula. I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week. It is especially good in toning up the stomach and has had a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration."
"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of our Veterans Cavalry in a four years' war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merits of Peru-na as a sense of obligation on my part for its wonderful efficacy."—W. H. Parsons.

There is no remedy in the world that soothes while it stimulates, heals as it meets the conditions produced by its expurgates. Peru-na is not a purgative, grippe better than the remedy, Peru-na, or cathartic, or sedative, or stimulant, Peru-na strengthens as it renovates, is a vegetable or mineral poison. It

A reward of $10,000 has been deposited in the Market Exchange Bank, Colum-reaches the source of all diseases of the mucous membrane by its action on the vivo-motor system of nerves.

Every person who has had la grippe during the last year should take a course of Peru-na. No one need expect perfect recovery unless they do so. The grippe has produced catarrhal inflammation of the whole mucous membrane, and good health is impossible until these are restored to a normal condition. This Peru-na will do. A great many remedies have been suggested for this condition from time to time, but Peru-na appears to be the only remedy that has any substantial value in these cases. It has never failed to give satisfaction during forty years' experience and still occupies the unique position of being the leading (if not the only) specific remedy for the after-effects of la grippe.

Henry Disting, the inventor and maker of all the hand instruments for the Henry Disting Manufacturing Co., writes the following from 1441 South Ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa.:
"I had a bad attack of la grippe last December which lasted more than three months, and which left me with catarrh, and several of my friends advised me to try Peru-na. I began with a bottle the first week in March and it certainly did me a great deal of good. I was well satisfied that I purchased another bottle and followed the directions, and can say that it has cured me."—Henry Disting.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

INDIANS WIN MILLIONS

Government Must Pay Claim of Cherokees With Interest

From 1838.

Washington, March 20.—The cases of the Cherokee Indians against the United States, involving the cost of the removal of the Indians from Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee to Indian Territory, today were decided against the government. The court holds the United States liable for $1,111,284, with interest from June 12, 1838, which amounts approximately to $4,500,000. This is brought about by the failure of Congress to make an appropriation carrying out the terms of a treaty.

Among the sparse settlements along the bleak coasts of Labrador and Newfoundland, a young Englishman and Oxford man has given the people for thirteen years they have had. By boat in summer and by dog-train through the snows, he reaches every harbor from Newfoundland to Hudson Strait. He is the comfort and hope of the frugal, care-pinned people of the whole long coast. In the April McClure's this young doctor has written the story of a winter's experience. He writes a simple, direct account, of a freely given, arduous service. It has the tang of the cold North about it, and it is a hopeful picture of a little-known people—the farthest outpost of the northern coast.

COL. EWING REPLIES TO A CRITIC.

Western Tobacco Journal
An Organ of the Tobacco Trust.

MISREPRESENTATIONS.

If Members Will Pursue a Calm, Conservative Course All Will Be Well.

I read in the Nashville American of the 17th inst. an article said to have been written by a correspondent of the Western Tobacco Journal. In replying to the article, I would first say that it must be perfectly evident to every man who has a real knowledge of the situation, either by being a member of the Executive Committee of the Association, or who has followed its work so closely as to be in a position to know that the so-called correspondent does not know whereof he speaks. He enumerates the counties to his own liking. In so doing he mentions several in which this association has never done an hour's work, or in any other way endeavored to secure a pledge of a planter's crop. He also fails to mention others where we have a thorough working organization, and have pledged a large amount of tobacco. Again, we take up the gentleman's estimate of tobacco sold, a thoughtful man would quickly see that they are greatly in excess of what the buyers claim to have bought. It occurs to me that these two things are sufficient to mark the article, what I have no doubt it is, a subtle effort to get us to render, for the benefit of those who are opposing us, a detailed statement of our affairs, so that they might somewhere find an unprotected spot upon which to concentrate their forces in their desperate desire to buy tobacco. The gentleman says, "In a short time the organization claimed, etc., etc." The organization has never claimed to have so much tobacco, and it knows the crop is not nearly so large as he states. This organization has no secrets to be kept from its members and friends. We are perfectly willing to admit that in some counties we are much stronger than in others, but this gentleman does not see proper to give us credit for being really strong anywhere. I would say with our progress and with the amount of tobacco being legally pledged to the Association, I would furthermore say that we have a chairman and secretary for each county, as well as district chairman. We prefer to keep our own books and statistics to having him keep them for us. We are sure they will be more correct and our members will be better satisfied. Could the gentleman have shown a partisan spirit any more conclusively than when he says, "While it can be seen from the above that the organization did not get control of the necessary 70 per cent. and that it falls far short of the $4,000,000 pounds claimed, still the indications are that a great deal of tobacco in the Hopkinsville and Clarksville sections will be prized."

What else could have caused this unusual amount of pricing, except the work of this Association. I submit that nine-tenths of the pricing-houses in operation, are operating for the Association, and that the corporations that are usually so busy at this season, are operating very few pricing-houses, simply because they have not the tobacco to prize. This gentleman furthermore says: "From the beginning it has been the hope of the leaders to sell all the tobacco in a lump, so far they have not succeeded in doing so, and it looks as if tobacco will have to go through the usual warehouse channel to be marketed."

"Whether this experiment will prove a success or not will depend on the price ruling on the break market next summer and fall."

To take up this last paragraph, I would say that we have never attempted to sell tobacco in a "lump," and prefer that the different types be sold to their usual markets, but of course, at a better price than heretofore.

Now this last prognostication of his, which is printed as a positive fact, that the price will depend on the ruling price, on the market, is probably the opinion conceived in hope of one on the other side, and whose interest lies in the disintegration of the organization. It is very evident that he sees proper to ignore the fact that this association has already put up the price of tobacco 23 cents per pound, that the very highest grades of tobacco and the tobacco which positively cannot be substituted, is in that section of the district where he admits we are strongest. Furthermore this gentleman for reasons of his own, does not see proper to call attention to the fact that the amount the Regies have purchased, fully 60 per cent. is absolutely unsuited to their requirements, and while they may think, they can make this association think it a menace, we know a very small per cent. of it is suitable for export tobacco, and will remain at home, to supply cheaper requirements. One of the ablest tobacco men, representing these large corporations, said to me, "If you people will reduce the acreage for this year (1905), you have won your fight." Every county is reducing determinedly and positively, this will be done without a peradventure, but even if the planters were not so determined upon this, the labor question would to a great extent control it. There is not an intelligent planter in the district who does not realize that the industrial progress of the cities, mining regions and railroads has depleted the agricultural sections of labor, to the extent that it is not a possibility to raise as much tobacco as we had in the past, while the world's population is increasing, and the consumption of tobacco becoming greater. I have before me a letter containing pledges representing 152,500 pounds of tobacco from one county. This is in one day's mail, and very nearly every mail brings pledges. Would the gentleman so clearly espousing the cause of the other side have the temerity to say, "Our opponents are accomplishing nearly so much?"

This same journal which has on occasion suggests, published some weeks ago on account of my coaching a special attorney employed by the U. S. Government, to find evidence of the fact, that the American Tobacco Company was a trust, but this attorney was a "mare's nest." Throughout the article the name of the American Tobacco Company frequently appeared. In my public utterances, both in speaking and in print, I have refrained from using the name of any special corporation as a trust, and this frequent use by the journal of the name of this corporation, savored so strongly of a guilty conscience, I could not do otherwise than think of the article as having been inspired by the American Tobacco Company. At any rate we have touched foils with our opponents of our success, as agriculturalists, in whatever phase we have found them, and we are the guinea of a successful issue, the opinion of the journal to the contrary notwithstanding. We have tenders of assistance from a sale aspect, and of money from some of the ablest men of the world, so soon as we have it prized, and can have accurate accounting of what we have to offer. We only ask our members and allies to pursue the same calm conservative course which has brought our organization to its present high state of perfection.

HOLLAND TAKES STAND

Tells of the Events Leading up to the Killing of Hardy Keys at Benton.

Benton, Ky., March 21.—In the trial of Walter Holland, charged with the murder of Hardy Keys, the defendant was on the witness stand all day finishing late Monday afternoon. The substance of the testimony was that Keys stopped in front of an office in which Judge C. H. Bush was holding a reception, and Holland, who was in the office, went to the door, and asked Keys if he would not come in. Keys replied: "What is in the hell is that to you?"

Holland told him that he seemed to have some curiosity about what was going on, and that he was welcome to come in. Keys called him a liar, and advanced on him with a knife. Holland then shot him.

THE BOLL WEEVIL

Is Here to Stay Says Special Agent Hunter.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a report on the results of recent boll weevil investigations by Special Agent Hunter. The report says that there is not even a remote probability that the boll weevil ever will be exterminated; and that as a matter of fact no injurious insect ever has been exterminated. It says, however, that although the very large yields of cotton of former times no longer may be possible in the region infested by the boll weevil, it is entirely feasible to produce cotton at a margin of profit that will compare favorably with that resulting from the production of most crops of the United States, by following what is known as the cultural method. This consists of changes and modifications of the system of cotton raising, including the destruction of the plants in the fall, early planting, thorough cultivation of the fields, planting the rows as far apart as feasible, thinning the plants in the rows and using certain fertilizers.

Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember, that, after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their dispositions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Bennettsville, S. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." R. C. Hardwick, druggist, sells and guarantees them at 50c a bottle.

WAVE OF RELIGION.

Thousands of People Abjure Bar-rooms and Other Evils.

Sterling, Ill., March 22.—As a result of a great religious revival which has just closed at Dixon, five dancing clubs have disbanded and several thousands people have taken an oath not to frequent the bar-rooms and not to have anything to do with dancing parties or card tables. The famous Kendall Club, a charitable organization, which raised several thousand dollars a year for charity, voted not to hold any more dances, and gave to William A. Sunday, the "baseball evangelist," $300. During the revival three bartenders were converted, a number of gambling dens were closed, and gambling outfits were demolished. At the close of the meeting a basket collection was taken for the evangelist, and the people in the tabernacle gave him $2,750 for his four weeks' work. During the four weeks of the meeting it is estimated that 150,000 people attended the meetings and that there were at least 2,000 conversions.

ROASTED TO DEATH

Were Many Operatives in a Massachusetts Factory.

Brookton, Mass., March 21.—The explosion of a 150-horse power steam boiler in the shoe factory of R. B. Grover & Co. at Brookton, Mass., yesterday caused the death of scores of operatives and serious injuries to many others. The explosion came without warning and the huge boiler shot upward, tearing its way through the four story factory like a projectile, and in falling crushed two dwellings nearby. The factory at once collapsed. Some of the dead were instantly killed, others were pinned beneath heavy beams or pieces of machinery and roasted to death by the fire which immediately broke out and consumed the ruins in a short time. A number of the injured were rescued. The awful scenes unnerved some who rushed to the assistance of the injured. Some fine instances of self-sacrifice and heroism were witnessed. The property loss is estimated at about $250,000.

About Cats.
There comes a description of the cat, written by Prof. Wilder, of Cornell University, some years ago, from which we take the following: "Its anatomical structure considered, the cat is more decidedly specialized and more finely differentiated than man, and is in some respects a finer creature. It is as nearly perfect as an animal can be in anatomical structure. The muscles are more delicate, they are prettier, and in some cases they are more complex. The eye is protected in a way ours is not, there being a third lid. The shape of the cat is beautiful. It uses all its force to advantage, and never wastes any. When it makes a leap it will light in just the right place. It can turn in the air in a very slight space, and it always alights on its feet. If Adam and Eve had been cats they would have alighted upon their feet in their fall. The cat has extreme keenness of apprehension. It recognizes its friends and its foes. A single spank will alienate the dearest pet of a cat for at least a month.

If cleanliness is next to Godliness the cat is the most religious of animals. Cleanliness is not only a habit but a fad with it.

The affection of cats for human beings and for each other is remarkable. Their homing faculty is extraordinary.

In Germany thirty-seven cats were carried in sacks twenty-four miles in various directions, and all of them were home within twenty-four hours.

How a cat purrs nobody knows, and nobody is likely to find out, because the cat purrs only when it is happy, and it is not likely to be happy when an investigation is going on to discover how it purrs."

Dark Tobacco Planters.

W. H. Jesup & Co., with the Cooper and Hooper companies, have made a contract with the Dark Tobacco Association to prize tobacco for the farmers. Having employed the most competent men to class and prize, we will endeavor to prize your tobacco to the best advantage, and we take this plan of soliciting your patronage. Remember, good prices are dependent upon tobacco being properly handled. Assort your tobacco carefully as to length and color, separate the lugs from the leaf, let the long and short be carefully separated and do not put different colors in the same bundle. Put it in good keeping order. Stick to your organization, tell your neighbors about it, send us your tobacco to prize and you will realize much better prices than you have for many years past. Liberal advances on tobacco in store.

Advertising is a Necessity.

In an address to the New England Dry Goods Association Nathaniel G. Fowler spoke of the advantages and the absolute necessity of newspaper advertising to the modern merchant. Among other things he said:

"Without depreciating the value of any of the good advertising mediums, for there are many, I wish to state emphatically, and without qualifications, that the newspaper is the best and cheapest advertising medium for the retail advertiser, and is the only local medium worthy of being called indispensable. I cannot too forcibly impress upon you the intrinsic value of newspaper advertising space. I base my opinion upon twenty-five years of actual experience in weighing advertising values. I am speaking through the head of experience, and not through the hat of conceit, nor have I any self-interest whatsoever. It makes no difference to me whether you advertise in the newspapers, or in any other way, or at all.

The newspaper, from every standpoint, logically, psychologically and practically, is the most natural advertising medium. The reader buys the newspaper for the advertising as well as for the news; and many a woman buys it almost exclusively for the advertising she expects to find in it.

Something for nothing is not business, nor is it good advertising. That which we get for nothing, whether it is a free circular or a free newspaper, receives little consideration. If I were a dry goods merchant I would rather have my advertisement in 1,000 copies of any of the Boston papers paid for by the readers than to have the same advertisement in 10,000 sample copies of the same paper. Because the reader pays for the paper, he proposes to get his money's worth, and he cannot get his money's worth unless he reads that paper, and he reads the advertisements because they are a part of that paper.

IOWA TOWN IS UNIQUE

AMANA THE HOME OF COMMUNIST SETTLEMENT.

Semi-Centennial Will Be Celebrated Soon - Organization Survives Many Persecutions But Comes Out Successful.

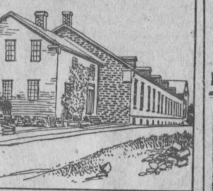

Amama, Iowa, the largest communist settlement in the world, dates its celebration its semi-centennial, after an existence which for privations and hardships is unrivaled in the history of any like settlement in any foreign country.

In 1842, four leaders of a body known as the True Inspirationists set sail for America, to seek a site for a city which was to be the home of these people; a place where they could practice their beliefs and be free from the persecution which their convictions forced them to undergo in Germany. The leaders, out in America, became the victims of land sharks, and purchased a tract near Buffalo, where their followers settled the next year. However, as the settlement was then known, was for the decade spent on the spot, harassed on one side by Indians and on the other by the white land sharks.

Such conditions were not conducive to communistic life, and again the trusted four were sent to seek another home for the Inspirationists. This time, it was specified, the site must be on the further bank of the Mississippi, and, with wisdom born of ten years' experience in the New York settlement, the communists decided upon the site afforded by the Iowa river in the northwestern part of Iowa county, Iowa, and in the course of a year the entire settlement had moved their belongings to the site. The town was called Amama, meaning "remain true," and, despite the oft-proven truth of the axiom that there is little in a name, it seems that property and happiness have been the lot of these humble Germans.

Communism has a history which is a formidable rival of that of the Puritans. There have been many attempts to establish towns exclusively for these people, but as the principles of their belief give each man equal rights, and as there has been, almost without exception, some ambitious person seeking to obtain more than his share of control, the settlements have nearly always been failures.

With Amama it has been very different. The leading lights who headed the movement were C. M. Wenzel, John Beck, Jacob Wiltner and Friedrich Heinemann, and these men always had the best interests of their sect at heart. Since 1845, when the settlement was established, the number of persons adhering to the sect has jumped from 500 to 1,500, and the towns have increased from the single little village of Amama to seven prosperous cities. At present there are West Amama, South Amama, High Amama, East Amama, Homestead, Middle Amama and the original village of Amama.

MEETING HOUSE IN AMAMA.

When the settlement was first made, 18,000 acres were purchased by the society, and now it is recorded that the organization owns 20,000 acres. No other property is declared to be of considerable value.

The system of government of the society is that of a sort of communism. Trustees are selected by the members, and from their number a president is elected. Each family is allowed a special vote as a general assembly. Every member of the community is obliged to work, and the work is graded according to his or her physical capacity. Laziness and shirking is unknown. The foremost industry of these people is agriculture. Amama woollens, which are manufactured in the Iowa town, have a reputation which is world-wide.

Equality is the leading feature of communistic life, and, despite the prominence which a member may have obtained during his period of membership, his final resting place is marked by the same simple, undecorated headstone that is found on the graves of the others.

W. W. GARIBOLDI.

He Couldn't Help Being Good.

A well known spokesman of the sect at a religious service in a jail. He noted that one of the convicts seemed extraordinarily impressed. After the service he sought him out and continued the good work by remarking:

"My dear sir, I hope you will profit by my remarks just now and become a new man."

"Indeed I will," was the reply. "In fact, I promise you that I will never commit another crime, but will lead an exemplary life to my dying day."

"Good," said the dominie, "but are you sure that you will be able to keep the promise?"

"Oh, yes," was the cheerful reply of the convict. "I'm in jail for life."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

OBSTINATE CASES

Of leucorrhoea, excessive flowing, painful periods, or falling of womb, or bearing-down sensations, ulceration of womb, pain in the back, etc.

and tenderness of ovaries, are almost always cured by a fairly persistent use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If in any case it should, in due time, seem quite adequate to meet every phase of some complicated case, Dr. Pierce always stands ready to offer valuable suggestions based upon years of varied experience which often prove of inestimable value. This has done entirely free of charge to those using his medicines. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dear Sir—Once thought I should never enjoy good health again. I suffered with womb disease, nervous pains, monthly sickness, backache, constipation, cold hands and feet at all times. Was all run-down, and there was nothing left of me but a shadow. After I had taken one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I also some of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, I was entirely cured. I always send the remedies on hand now, and recommend them to all my friends.

There is no opium, cocaine or other narcotic in "Favorite Prescription." Neither does it contain alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant.

It often happens that childlessness is due to conditions which may be corrected. Many women have found that the vitality and vigor imparted by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to the woman's organs, has been the one thing needed to fulfill the joy of motherhood. This famous medicine is not a cure-all.

Just a specialist's prescription, buying as a single aim the cure of disease, is not to be compared with the "Favorite Prescription." With trials such as these, it can't be for you. Some saving may be made by purchasing our medicines in half-dose quantities. But the "Favorite Prescription" is the medicine you need, do not be misled into believing something else that pays these doctors to induce you to do so is an insult to your intelligence. Turn your back on the one who offers you the affront.

DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PELLETS

Cure biliousness, sick and bilious headaches, dizziness, constiveness, or constipation of the bowels, loss of appetite, coated tongue, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the living stomach and bowels.

Persons subject to any of these troubles should never be without a visit of the "Pleasant Pellets" at hand. They are always adopted as a household remedy after the first trial. Put up in glass vials, tightly corked, therefore always fresh and reliable.

One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are cathartic. They cleanse, invigorate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day. To relieve the distress arising from over-eating, nothing equals one of these little "Pellets." They're tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Dr. Pierce's ten thousand-page "Common Sense Medical Adviser" will be sent for the mere cost of mailing; paper-bound for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. It is a grand and useful book. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BASEMENT PALACE

Gretchen lived in a basement room, with Karl and Wilhelm and Franz, Father, mother and grandmother. The baby and little Hans. But Gretchen played that the dingy home was a palace, stately and tall, in which she lived a kingly queen, with her beautiful princess doll. The doll was the round of a broken chair. In a single garment dressed, in Gretchen's eye it was fair to see, and she hugged it to her breast. Her daily portion of scanty food To Gretchen was a feast! She played that the bread was turky and fat, and then other things at least. Dear grandmother was a fairy witch, a magic wand her cane, which conjured forth the wonderful things that a palace should contain. Karl and Wilhelm and Franz were kings, with paper crowns on their hair—So Gretchen played and Gretchen dreamed, and to her the world was fair.—Washington Star.

The Witch's Hour

By ALDIS DUNBAR

"Do you want to be court poet?" remarked the witch. "I thought you had settled down to farming."

"Not all the way down, godmother," protested the poet, whose name was Dilatorio. "Only on every-day."

"Meaning the kind that aren't holidays, I suppose," snapped the witch, clicking her knitting needles. "I have no other kind in my business. Why do you come to me? I'm no judge of poetry."

"Well, you see, godmother," began Dilatorio, somewhat uneasily, "the appointment will be given to the man who writes the best ode for the coming marriage of the Princess Melisette. I hadn't had time to go to market for two weeks. I found quite by accident that the apples in the cellar were spotted, and I had to pick them over. That's why I didn't happen to hear about the competition until yesterday. If I had only known before it will be over in two days, but there—"

"Aren't any holidays in between?" finished up the witch, who had a terrible way of knowing what you were going to say and of ending up your sentences for you when she couldn't really be bothered with you any longer.

"That's exactly it," replied Dilatorio. "I have a splendid idea for the ode, but somehow I've not been able to find time to write it down. The early peas, you know, and the asparagus, and the lunch-time, and dinner-time, and people talking to me over the fence—"

"Why don't you build the fence higher so they can't bother you?" asked the witch, leaning her sharp little chin on her withered little hand.

"I will when I have a little more leisure," answered the poet, uncomfortably. "But about this ode. If you have any time on hand that you aren't intending to use right away and would let me borrow it I'm sure I could get the appointment. Then I would have my magnificent apartment in the palace and the fence wouldn't matter."

"Well," mused the witch, who had a soft spot in her queer heart for her gossip, "you could hardly do worse at court than you do at farming. I have a few extra hours in my strong closet there. I've been saving them carefully. Hours are precious, Dilatorio."

"Oh, one would be more than enough," returned the poet, eagerly. "The idea is all ready to be written on a beautiful sheet of pink embossed paper with gold edges, that is in the top drawer of my desk."

"Wait here," ordered the witch. "I must fly up into the tower where I keep my account books, and see what I can let you have."

Catching up her broomstick, which stood leaning against the wall, she disappeared—leaving Dilatorio in her care. As she stood wondering his eye fell on the strong closet in a corner, and he went cautiously toward it and laid his hand on the key. To his surprise the door swung open at a touch so that he could look in. It was lined with polished silver, but inside was nothing more than a few old nets, hanging from a row of silver pegs.

"So spare hours look like that!" said the poet. "Who would have thought it?" Then he closed the door in a hurry, for he heard the swish of broom straw.

"I find that I can't spare but one hour," frowned the witch, dropping through the roof on her stick, still knitting. "I don't often waste time, and I know perfectly well that this will be thrown away, but just for once I'll give you an hour outside, that is, all of it that you don't spend on the road going home."

"I can be at my desk in five minutes," protested the poet.

"Very well. If your ode is already composed, that should leave you time enough to write it down. But go straight to your door from mine, without letting anyone suspect that you have time to spare."

At that, she opened the door of the strong closet and took down one of the nets. Dilatorio started, for instead of being empty, it was filled with little moving bright things that shone and glistened until his eyes were quite dazzled.

"What are those, godmother?" he asked.

"Nicks," she answered, very crossly, twisting the top of the net into a rope.

"Nicks?" said Dilatorio.

"Of time, stupid! Here, sling this over your shoulder and be off! and before the poor, bewildered poet could speak, she had hustled him outside and slammed the door.

Taken quite aback, he stood gazing at it helplessly until, hearing a funny little "P!" in the air over his head, he looked up. There, floating away, went something bright, like a golden feather. "P!" and there went another. Then he suddenly knew that these were escaping from the net on his back, and he started off down the road toward his farm.

"Ho, there, poet!" called a familiar voice, as he came to a field where two men were hoeing. "Whether so fast? Wait and see what I have to show these!"

"Not now!" Dilatorio shook his head. "I cannot stop. I must hasten home to my desk."

"You can spare a little time to good fellowship. I had not thought you crusty. The desk may surely wait," laughed his neighbor. "Come, you are learned in deep matters. Name or what this rare coin that I plowed up yesterday. My dame told me to ask you."

"Ah, well, bring it here. I may just glance at it," and he paused.

"P!" But the loud voice of the farmer who was now bent kept the poet who was not much of a farmer from noticing that his burden was growing less.

"With 'I must be going,' Dilatorio went off at last, saving over the opening lines of his ode.

"Oh, Master Dilatorio!" cried a village maid, running after him with large curls flying. "Will you not write me a birthday verse to go with my gift for Dick? He's a rare good fellow, my Dick. You've just helped me to pull your cart from the mud-hole where you had driven it, last market day."

EXPECT MUCH

And You'll Not be Disappointed in Mr. Packard.

Alton Packard, who will appear at the Tabernacle on Friday evening, March 31, is a favorite on the Chautauqua platform. He transforms the lecture platform into a veritable artist's studio. Read what others say of him where he has appeared:

Boulder, Col.—Chautauqua Assembly.—He is a most gifted man and I most heartily commend him.—Homer T. Wilson.

San Francisco, Cal.—Mr. Packard represents the new school of caricaturists and is very successful.—San Francisco, Examiner.

Los Angeles, Cal.—One of the best entertainers that ever appeared on the Chautauqua platform at Long Beach.

Lincoln, Neb.—Wesleyan University Course.—The audience was expecting much from Mr. Packard, and was not disappointed. He makes one forget his troubles and sends him away with a light heart. A crowded house and appreciative audience will greet him every time he comes here.—The Wesleyan.

HEARD PLOT.

Witnesses Swears Murder Was Planned.

Lexington, Ky., March 20.—A sensation was created today in the hearing on an application for bail for James, Alex and Elbert Hargis and Ed Callahan, when Mose Feltner testified that prior to the death of Cockrell, Alex and James Hargis, Callahan and Feltner had, in Hargis' store, discussed whether Marcum or Cockrell should be killed first. Shortly afterwards, he said, Cockrell was killed. He said he was at the time acting in bad faith with the Hargises and had told Marcum and Cockrell of the plot in the hope of saving their lives.

Although the present hearing is only on a motion for bail for Senator Hargis, Judge Hargis, their nephew Elbert, and Ed Callahan, who are held on a charge of murder, the excitement was intense, the courtroom and surrounding streets being crowded with people, many of whom came in from other cities and counties. The hearing will probably consume several days.

Anse White, brother of Tom White, convicted of the murder of James B. Marcum, is said to be on his way to Lexington to testify in the case of the Hargises and Callahan, and that he will reveal the plot to kill Jim Cockrell. It is claimed he was in the conspiracy. Mrs. Sarah Fitzpatrick, a sister of Marcum, testified Tuesday that she heard Senator Alex Hargis say after the killing of Cockrell that he was a friend of the murderer and would defend him if any arrests were made. She said the Senator also remarked that Cockrell was a scoundrel and should have been killed.

State Fair.

The Kentucky State Fair will be held September 15-23, inclusive, either in Louisville or Lexington. The Kentucky Live Stock Breeders' Association has addressed letters to the commercial organizations of the two cities asking them to offer advantages for the exhibition.

Well Known Merchant Dead.

Elkton, Ky., March 20.—E. Garth, a well-known merchant of this city, died after an illness of a few hours. He was seventy-five years of age and was a merchant in this city for forty-seven years. He is survived by a widow and three children.

-Chat off the Bat-

There is still doubt about the guarantee fund for the Hopkinsville Baseball Association. The meeting Monday night disclosed the fact that about $550 of the $1,200 asked for has been subscribed. The canvass was unfinished, and practically all of this week will be taken up in making the strongest possible effort to raise the money. The committee is a little hopeful of success, but not before next week will it be definitely known what will be done.

In the meantime President Hancock is making contracts with some good players. If the franchise is sold, the players will be in shape to be sold with the franchise. Harry Meyer, first base, and Robt. Barlow, center-fielder, of the last season's team, have signed contracts.

Charlie Bonar, pitcher, has promised to report when ordered.

Jess Moore, infielder, who was sold, has not been called for and will return here in all probability.

Jack Kiler, right-fielder, of Evansville; Ben Wildermood, outfielder, from Newport, Ind., and M. B. Collins, pitcher, from Columbia, Tenn., are three new men to be given a trial.

"Foxey" Morris is now in Evansville working at his trade of carpenter. Brady, the left-fielder, is also in Evansville. Both are subject to orders.

With the 17 men carried over from last season and the new ones being signed, the Association will have about two dozen to select a crack team from and there will be no scrambling for the tail end this time. If the people of Hopkinsville come to time as they should, we shall see a team that the whole city will be proud of.

Manager Kolb, of the Vincennes team, has announced his line-up for the season. The following players have been ordered to report: Pitchers, Duffy and Quan, of the Eastern League; Nonemaker, with Dayton last season; Frye, with Marion, Ind., in 1904; Duggan, from the Cedar Rapids team, and a youngster of the name of Lord from Little Rock, Ark.; catchers, Lemon and Hugg; first base, Wilkinson, late of Kansas City and Marion (Ind.) teams; Bierkorte, second base; Barbour, of Ashenbach's Charleston team of last season, or Schmeltz, shortstop; Young, of Cincinnati, third base. In the outfield, Kolb will again play right; with Cooper in left and Donovan, who was with the Toledo club for awhile last year, or Hahn, in center. Five Cincinnati boys are in the line-up.

The manager has ordered his men to report on April 8, and after a few days training they will put up against some teams of the American Association and Central League. President C. C. Gonnell, of the club, has booked Toledo, Indianapolis, Evansville, Terre Haute, Washington, Ind., (independent team, which defeated the Reds last season,) and several other nearby clubs to appear on the Vincennes diamond during April.
